The Plymouth Lad Brings Banner
Price at Annual Jersey Isle
Stock Farm Event.

LARGEST CROWD EVER THERE

The Sheffield Farm of Glendale, Ohio,
Again the Heaviest Purchasers of Fine Stock.

As sleek and clean as hours of work by French "maids" could make them and blinking their mild brown eyes at the throng of spectators, the valuable Jerseys were led around the ring at the Jersey Isle stock farm this afternoon and auctioned off to the highest bidder. All of the Jerseys were in the "brown" of condition for the annual event and made a fine appearance. The animals showed their finer points of breeding by their clear cut limbs and superior bodies. The horns of all of the entries were polished to such a degree that they shined and each Jersey was adorned with a ribbon.

The Plymouth Lad brought the banner price at the sale today. He was purchased by the Sheffield Farm at Glendale, Ohio. Minister, the bull which was touted to bring a big price sold for only $810 and was bought by C. H. Baker of Raleigh, Illinois.

The owners of the Sheffield farm at Glendale, O., made the greatest number of purchases at the sale today and also the amount of their purchases aggregated more than those of any other one man or firm. They paid $11,000 for Derry's Golden Jolly at the sale last year. The high priced bull died a few months afterwards.

Duke's Iris brought the highest price of any milk cow in the auction. She was purchased by the Sheffield farm managers for $700. She is three years old. The youngest calf sold, Golden Maid's Butterfly, was only nineteen days old. She was bought by J. P. Walker of Bloomington, Ill., for $125.

Local buyers were not very numerous at the sale this year and at a late hour this afternoon no Rush county man had invested any money in a Jersey. Several other head of cattle brought good prices. Golden Jolly's Christena sold for $550; Plymouth Christie for $200; Combination Imported for $400; Jolly Butterfly for $545; Derry's Sweet Flower for $600; Golden Rosa's Pride for $350, and Noble's Rosabelle for $180.

The crowd in attendance at the sale this year was estimated to be larger than any which ever attended any of the five previous annual auctions. They crowded the large tent to its full seating capacity, many being forced to stand on the outside. The usual number of women were present and seemed to be in the majority. They have always taken an interest in the sale and attended in large numbers.

The auctioneers were Col. R. E. Edmundson of Kansas City, Mo., and B. L. Perry of Columbus, Ohio. The sale managers were B. C. Settles of Palmyra, Mo., and J. V. Porter of Galesburg, Ill. The clerks were A. B. Flinn and Miss Anna Waite of this city.

The banquet given by A. P. Walker at the Windsor hotel last night for the visiting stock buyers was a very enjoyable affair. About sixty big Jersey fanciers were present for the evening and enjoyed it thoroughly. After the several course dinner the remainder of the evening was spent in giving toasts to the Jersey, the sole reason for the many wealthy men being in the city. The virtues of the Jersey were extolled to the skies and all of their characteristics were pointed out by the more enthusiastic followers of the Jersey Isle product.

The work of the Girls' Gee club was the hit of the evening. They sang several selections and were encored to the echo by the wealthy stockmen. A piano was moved to the dining room where the girls sang. They made their best impression with a parody in which Mr. Walker was the central figure. The club is under the direction of T. A. Craig.

TONIGHT.

The special meeting of the Retail Merchants' Association will be held in the court house tonight at which time a report on the establishment of a permanent factory fund will be made by the executive and manufacturing committees. It will be up to the members of the association to either accept or reject the report of the committee. They have met in joint session already and it is said that they will be ready to make their report as requested at the regular meeting last week. An urgent request is made that every business man in Rushville be present.

DEBATE STARTS LOT OF TROUBLE

As Result Former Manilla Minister Loses Position as Superintendent of Cumberland Schools.

THINKS DECISION WAS WRONG

The Rev. Ernest Linton, who was formerly pastor of the Christian church at Manilla, has lost his position as superintendent of the schools at Cumberland, Marion county. He has been wielding the beech through the week and preaching on Sunday, but the trustee has decided that he will not need Mr. Linton next year. Several of the patrons have asked that he be retained and have appealed to the county superintendent without result. It is said the trouble is the outcome of a debate between Cumberland and Bunker Hill in which Mr. Linton thought his school got the worst of it and blamed the trustee who was one of the judges.

DEALS IN THOUGHTS BETTER THAN WORDS

S. A. Long, Who Delivers Commencement Address Friday Night, is not "Funny" Man.

IS A CLEVER IMPERSONATOR

Sylvester A. Long is not a "funny" man, but his lectures combine the science of entertainment and the art of instruction. His mastery of the art of illustration, his imitable story-telling, his clever impersonations, and his strong dramatic instinct combine to make him one of the most unique and entertaining lecturers on the platform today.

Being a man of deep convictions his work is very strong. He has been called "the man who says things." He deals in thought germs rather than words. He has that rare platform intuition which tells him what to omit. Without an unnecessary word, every sentence is crisp and refreshing. He is recommended to all who desire a lecture that will both entertain and bring vital interest to the community.

MULL AND KUHN TIED WITH 48

Each Received That Many Votes on Nineteenth Ballot at Democratic District Convention.

KUHN LOSES 5; MULL GAINS 1

Rush County Delegation Still Hopeful—Gray of Fayette Shows Some Strength.

The Sixth district Democrats were still balloting at Richmond this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock without having chosen a candidate for congress. On the nineteenth ballot, the one taken at 3:30, the vote stood:

Kuhn—48.
Mull—48.
Gray—23.
Fetterman—10.

This looked fairly good for Lon Mull, the Rush county candidate, and the Rush county delegates were still yelling themselves hoarse for the Manilla man. The Wayne county delegation was still standing by its candidate, the Rev. Thomas H. Kuhn, the twice defeated candidate for congress.

It requires 66 votes for a choice, there being 131 votes in the district. If the Wayne county delegation would switch from Kuhn to Mull the Manilla man would be nominated, but there was little indication that this would be done. There was still some indication of a "dark horse" and if the voting should suddenly be switched to John E. Osborne of Greensburg, who has been prominently mentioned for the place it is hard to tell what would happen.

The voting changed little on the first nineteen ballots, the first ballot, which, of course, was partly complimentary standing:

Kuhn—53.
Mull—47.
Gray—14.
Fetterman—12.
Chambers—5.

It will be seen that Mull gained only one vote on the withdrawal of Chambers. Gray made the biggest gain taking nine votes, partly from Kuhn, taking the bulk of the Chambers vote. The Gray friends were enthusiastic all afternoon and had hopes of naming their candidate.

LOCAL DELEGATES GO TO ENCAMPMENT

Mrs. George Havens Represents W. R. C. and W. T. Jackson the G. A. R. at Terre Haute.

FAVOR MEMORIAL DAY CHANGE

Mrs. George Havens went to Terre Haute today as a delegate from the local Woman's Relief Corps to the State encampment of the W. R. C. and G. A. R. W. T. Jackson went as a delegate from the Joel Wolfe Post of the Grand Army Republic.

From what can be learned the old soldiers of Rushville will be very much in favor of changing Memorial Day from May 30 to the last Sunday in May, that it may be more religiously observed. The idea originated in Indianapolis by the fact that there the day is to be given over to the speed demons and kings of the air. The sentiment among the soldiers is that the day is not now observed as was originally intended.

"JOY RIDERS" STEAL MACHINE

Dr. Will C. Smith Returned to His Office Last Night to Find His Auto Was Gone.

FOUND IT ABOUT MIDNIGHT

Had Been Diven About 20 Miles—Owner Certain That he Knows the Guilty Parties.

Returning to his office shortly after eleven o'clock last night, Dr. Will C. Smith found that his automobile had been stolen. He searched in the vicinity of his office for several minutes, but was unable to find any trace of the machine. He and several bystanders were able to trace the tracks of the machine where it had been driven away and had been turned up the alley and there they were lost. The auto was found by Charles Carter about midnight on Willow street near the Graham school building. Carter had been told of the loss and recognized the auto as the one belonging to Dr. Smith while on his way home.

Dr. Smith is convinced that the parties who were enjoying a "joy ride" last night at his expense were ones who were well acquainted with his machine and also with local conditions. He believes that he knows who took the auto and is considering taking steps against them in order to prevent the reoccurrence of such a thing. Dr. Smith measured the gasoline left in the tank and found that about one and one-half gallons had been used, which meant that the "joy riders" had driven the machine about twenty miles. Dr. Smith also knows that they used the lights as the key which is used to turn the lights on was not in its accustomed place.

Dr. Smith attended the dinner dance at the Social club last night and left his machine in front of his office to use it in case he would have a call during the evening. At first when he discovered that his machine was gone, he was at a loss to know where it might be. He thought that probably some other physician had taken it to make a call as they had done occasionally. He could tell by the tracks that the auto had been driven by an experienced hand. He had started home to wait until morning to investigate when Charles Carter called him, telling him that it had been found.

Dr. Smith is certain that he knows who got the benefits of the "joy ride." He says that young men around the city have learned to run an automobile and that they at times will take a ride if they must steal a machine to do it. One of the men at the central fire station, just across the street from the Smith offices, remembers that several young men were watching Dr. Smith's auto with considerable interest Sunday night. He stayed up and also watched until Dr.

TO SPEAK AT NEW SALEM

F. W. Lowe Will Deliver Temperance Lecture Monday Night.

F. W. Lowe, one of the most prominent temperance lecturers in the State and a man who has gained some prominence over the United States, will lecture next Monday night at the M. P. church in New Salem. The lecture will be on the subject of temperance, and the admission will be free. The meeting will begin at eight o'clock. The lecturer is coming to New Salem through the influence of Edward Austin.

Tonight, merchants!

Smith came back, fearing that they were intent on taking it.

Dr. Smith has been especially unfortunate in having vehicles stolen, but in every case he has played the roll of the detective admirably. He had a wheel stolen a few years ago and traced the thief to Connersville and back here and had him arrested within a day after the robbery. At another time his son's bicycle was stolen and he found it in the west end and the boy who took it in a short time.

"Joy riders" have been much in evidence here within the past few weeks. Eli Martin of Mays left his machine in front of the Masonic temple one night recently while attending a lodge meeting. Several youngsters took the auto for a ride. As they were passing in front of the Knecht garage in Third street, they imagined they saw the owner and all jumped out leaving the machine running on low gear. The auto ran into the large gasoline tank in front of the garage, damaging the machine and the tank considerably.

Cincinnati Enquirer Sends Questions About Beveridge and Tariff to Rush County Men.

IS GOV. MARSHALL POPULAR?

The Cincinnati Enquirer is sounding political conditions in Indiana, and is trying to get a line on the political sentiment in regard to Senator Beveridge and Governor Marshall, the Taft administration and the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill. About fifty Rush county business men and farmers have received these cards. The questions ask about the chances of the senior senator's re-election, the popularity of Governor Marshall's administration, the effect of the high cost of living and a few other similar questions.

IS FOUND DEAD AT MIDNIGHT

Mrs. J. M. Ward of Jackson Township Discovers Her Mother, Susan Warfield, After Death Comes.

WAS DUE TO HEART DISEASE

Funeral Services Will be Held Tomorrow Afternoon at 2 O'clock—Seven Children Survive.

Hearing someone coughing in one of the front rooms of the house, Mrs. L. M. Ward of Jackson township arose about midnight and went in to find her mother, Mrs. F. G. Warfield sitting in a chair dead. Mrs. Ward thought that she heard a noise at other times during the night, but was finally convinced that someone was in the front room and went in only to make the terrible discovery.

Dr. A. G. Shauck of Arlington, county coroner, was called and pronounced death due to heart disease. Mrs. Warfield had been in comparatively good health considering her age. She had complained of asthma, but the disease was never considered serious. The coroner's report showed that Mrs. Warfield had complained considerably of having trouble in getting her breath, which was caused by her weak heart.

Susan Caroline Warfield was born in this State May 14, 1841 and was sixty-nine years old her last birthday. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Wagoner. She had been a resident of this county for several years.

Mrs. Warfield was the widow of David Warfield and is survived by three sons and four daughters. The funeral services will be held at the Manilla Christian church Thursday afternoon at two o'clock, conducted by the Rev. Mr. Hawthorne of Gwynneville. The funeral cortège will leave the residence at noon tomorrow for Manilla. Burial will take place in the Manilla cemetery.

Workman's Arm Badly Injured in a Large Stone Crusher.

Meek Groves, employed at the works of the Greeley Stone Crusher company at St. Paul was severely injured Tuesday morning. He was at work about the crusher, oiling parts of the machinery, when in some manner he caught his right arm in the screen at the top of the machine. Before he could extricate himself, the arm was broken in three different places. The injured man is married and has children. Dr. Bell attended him and says the breaks are exceedingly severe ones.

TOOK LOOT BY CHAIN SYSTEM

Serious Charge Against Fraternal Societies.

GIGANTIC FRAUDS ALLEGED

Additional Grand Jury Investigations Are Hinted at as a Result of New Developments in What Is Referred to as a Chain System of Looting of the Treasures of Merged Fraternal Societies in Illinois.

Rock Island, Ill., May 25.—Chain-system looting of the treasures of merged fraternal societies to a total well up in the millions of dollars has been disclosed as the goal of the insurance scandal investigation that took State's Attorney Lawrence M. Magill of Rock Island county to Chicago on what is said to have been a successful hunt for evidence. Two additional grand jury investigations in Cook and Sangamon counties as well as in Rock Island, now appear probable as a result of the new developments.

Trails of alleged embezzlement are being followed by detectives into a dozen cities of Illinois and into two or three other states. One sum of $57,000, the entire reserve fund of the order of Fraternal Tribunes, is said to have been whisked around the country for several months before its final disappearance "into ice cream," as one of the officers of that society described the process.

In addition to the Fraternal Tribunes, the American Home Circle and the Northern Life Insurance company there have now been mentioned the Royal Benefit Society of Washington, which draws no color line; the Independent Order of Mutual Aid, whose $70,000 reserve mysteriously disappeared when it was merged into another society; and the Farmers' federation, which also has passed out of existence by the merger route.

So far as has been disclosed, being samples of a long string of similar items, the following specifications of funds that have disappeared to a total of more than $300,000, will be made in the evidence State's Attorney Magill will lay before the Rock Island grand jury:

Paid on death claims against the American Home Circle and alleged to have been paid out again out of the Fraternal Tribunes' treasury following the Tribunes' merger in the Home Circle.....$45,000

Reserve fund of the Fraternal Tribunes, which entirely disappeared about the time of the merger.....$57,000

Suits against the Fraternal Tribunes on claims against the Home Circle during period of merger, which claims were alleged to have been paid.....$120,000

Money loaned out of Tribunes' treasury on a note signed with name of a man who declared he did not sign note nor receive money; man wanted as a witness, but has disappeared. 14,000

Forged promissory note of apparently similar nature.....$34,000

Vanished reserve fund of the Mutual Aid Society.....$70,000

It is now said that the fraternal insurance frauds now under investigation by the grand jury may reach a total of $500,000, to which must be added the frauds said to have been similarly perpetrated in Springfield as "gang headquarters," as well as in Chicago.

Of the several Chicagoans involved in the scandal, several are not and never have been officers of any of the fraternal orders in the merger chain. It was stated that the "outsiders" were necessary for the purpose of "covering up tracks" by posing as the borrowers of money, the indorsers of checks, the signers of receipts. Politicians of various degrees of prominence, including both Republicans and Democrats, are probable targets for grand jury inquiries.

One of the sensational possibilities of the scandal is that it may touch the state insurance department at Springfield. It has been beyond the understanding of the investigators that the wholesale looting of certain fraternal orders could be accomplished without the blindness or acquiescence of some officials at the state capital. It is in this direction lies the probable Sangamon county investigation.

IN THE OFFICES OF SUGAR TRUST

Federal Prosecutor Now Delving
Into Wall Street Secrets.

CARRIED TWO SETS OF FIGURES

One of These Had to Do With the Government Duty on False Weights of Sugar; the Other Had to Do With the Sugar Shippers on True Weights, but No Comparisons Were Made Between the Two.

New York, May 25.—The methods followed in the Wall street offices of the sugar trust by which the company discriminated between the government duty on false weights of sugar and the sugar shippers on true weights were described for the first time in the trial of Charles R. Heike, the secretary of the company, and the other defendants in the United States circuit court.

Until the present case the trial has never been followed up beyond the big Williamsburgh refinery of the trust, where the false weighing went on. Evidently with a view of connecting Heike, the only defendant in the present trial who was an officer of the company at 117 Wall street, Prosecutor Stimson called two clerks employed in the Wall street office. From their testimony it was brought out that there was no comparison of the government weight and the real weight for purposes of correction, though the two sets of figures were handled by men sitting less than two feet apart.

John A. Thompson, the first of the Wall street witnesses, and who has been with the company thirty-five years, was the man who paid the shippers of the sugar. He testified that he got the weights used in his calculations from the city weighers. Before paying the shippers he sent the city weigher's return over to be "O. K'd" by Benderagle, the cashier at the refinery.

In the case of the merchants being paid on the city weighers' returns, Thompson did not see the government figures at all, but he did see them when he paid merchants on the invoice weight, the weight taken at the point of shipment. In such a case, if there was more than 2 per cent difference between the invoice weight and the government weight he was ordered to report the matter to Benderagle. Benderagle, he said, would call him up in half an hour and tell him to go ahead and pay.

"Who directed you to call up Mr. Benderagle about the differences?" asked Mr. Denison, for the government.

"Mr. H. O. Havemeyer," the witness replied.

"Did Mr. Heike know anything about these telephone calls?"

"No, sir, he did not."

Thompson said that he never had any communication with Heike about weights. From him the government brought out the point that whereas the company paid freight charges at one time on the government weights as a basis, after the frauds began, it paid these charges on the city weights. Thompson said that he noticed at the time of the discovery of the frauds that the differences in weight fell off and reported it to Benderagle, who did not say anything. George H. Becker, another clerk in the offices, described the system by which the duty was paid. A clerk named Dennison, sitting a few feet from Thompson, drew the checks for the government duty. He worked in conjunction with Baron Worden. The latter was an Austrian, who worked for H. O. Havemeyer for many years and was the company's man at the custom house. He would report to Dennison what the government weights were at the custom house and then Dennison would draw the check. He never saw any other figures.

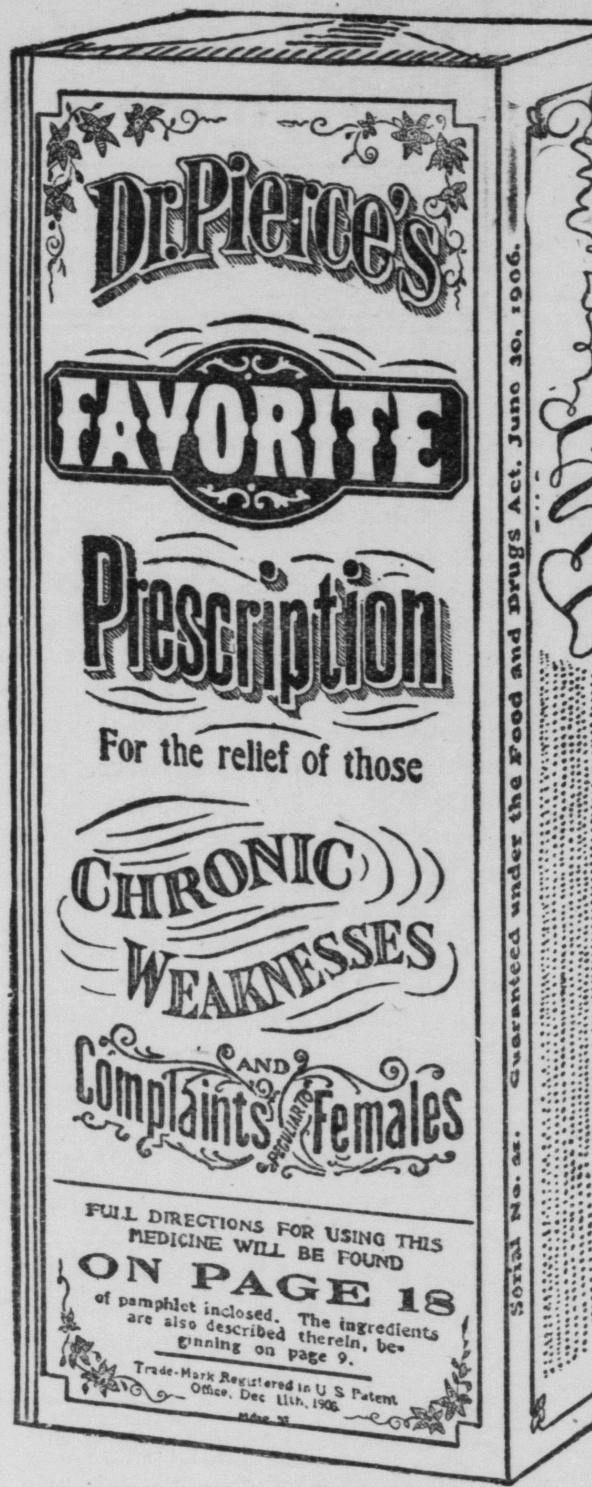

Through the testimony of other witnesses called by the government, all of them employees in the refinery, it was brought out that practically all the books and papers which might throw some light on the frauds were missing from the office of Benderagle and Gerbracht at the refinery when search was made for them, and have never been found.

From the office of Gerbracht, the general superintendent of the refinery, who is one of the present defendants, there is missing the letter-press copy books, according to the testimony of J. F. Poole, who succeeded Garbracht as superintendent. Poole said that there were also missing apparently a lot of important papers from the file in the office for years back. Apparently the papers included letters passing between the refinery and the Wall street offices. It appeared that the government had tried to get hold of these documents right after the frauds were discovered, but somebody had seen to it that they were gone then, it would seem.

Women and Work

As a school teacher woman was not deemed capable or acceptable until about 1868, when soldiers had made men scarce, says the Elbert Hubbard.

Women's entrance into the business world is a very modern innovation. It all dates since the civil war and was really not accepted until 1876, the year the typewriter and telephone were discovered.

Even yet the average man keeps his wife in total ignorance of his financial affairs, thinking that she hasn't the ability to comprehend the intricacies of trade.

"Who directed you to call up Mr. Benderagle about the differences?" asked Mr. Denison, for the government.

"Mr. H. O. Havemeyer," the witness replied.

"Did Mr. Heike know anything about these telephone calls?"

"No, sir, he did not."

For two or three years my hair had been falling out and getting quite thin, until the top of my head was entirely bald. About four months ago I commenced using Sage and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good, and I kept using it regularly, until I had a full head of hair. The whole top of my head is now fairly covered with hair and it keeps coming in thicker. I shall keep on using it a while longer, as I notice constant improvement.

Woman's True Friend

Experimenting with new and untried medicines is foolish, and often dangerous. It would take a medicine more than forty years, to prove itself so universally good as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. During all that time it has been woman's favorite medicine—a restorative tonic, uplifting and invigorating the nervous and discouraged and giving them the final touch of perfect health.

Women use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription in preference to all other advocated medicines for it contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs—is not anything like advertised, secret, or patent medicines—does not claim to be able to do impossible things.

THE ONE REMEDY for women devised by a regularly graduated physician of vast experience in woman's ailments, and adapted to her delicate organism.

THE ONE REMEDY good enough that its makers are not afraid to print its every ingredient on its outside wrapper.

You can't afford to allow yourself to be oversuaded into accepting any secret nostrum as a substitute for this honest square-deal non-secret medicine. Don't do it. No honest druggist will attempt to cheat you in this way. He who does should be rebuked and avoided. Doctors prescribe Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for their worst cases because they know what it contains and know its ingredients to be of the very best.

It's well now and then to gently cleanse out bowel germs that breed weakness, cause foul breath, loss of appetite, dizziness and headache. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets keep bowels sweet and clean. Recommended by druggists because of their purity, goodness, and active gentleness.

World's Dispensary Medical Association, R.V. Pierce, M. D., Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.

twenty she was a plaything; when she grew old and wrinkled she was a scullion and a drudge. All laws were made by men, and in some States a woman only has yet a second mortgage on her child. If she is a married woman all the money she earns belongs to her husband. Woman's right to have her political preferences recorded are still denied. Orthodox churches will not listen to her speak, and the logic of William Penn, the Voice may come to a woman exactly as to a man," is smiled at indulgently by priests and preachers. In English common law she is always a minor. She never grows up.

It does not require much reasoning to see that so long as a woman is treated as a child the tendency is that she shall be one.

The success of the Bon Marché at Paris, the Boston store in Chicago, not to mention Mary Elizabeth, Her Candy, proves what woman can do when her head is not in a compress and her hands tied.

Man's boldness and woman's caution make an admirable business combination. And in spite of that malicious generalization, pictured in print and fable, about woman's enterprise being limited to exploiting the trousers of peacefully sleeping man, I believe that women are more honorable in money matters than the male of the genus homo.

Women cashiers do not play the races, hearken to the seductive tickler, nor cultivate the poker face.

There may be women who smoke cigarettes, but they are not the self-supporting women—the women who work and pay their way.

The boozing women are those who live on the bounty of male man, advertising his prowess in conspicuous waste and conspicuous leisure. And idle women are no better than idle men.

Good women, women who work, keep out of the smart set. "The Smart set," says Ambrose Bierce, "those savages in silk, who give parties to dogs and dinners to monkeys, where quarrels occur over questions of precedent between a mosquito and a flea."

All honor to the women who work, for they are the women who think.

ROY HARROLD, City Editor.

Wednesday, May 25, 1910.

It is recorded that the jurymen in the Hyde case wept copiously under the spell of the eloquence poured forth by counsel for the defense in behalf of the prisoner's wife, yet the jury brought in a verdict of guilty. The question raised is whether the jurymen wept because of sympathy for the lady or in anticipatory regret of the sorrow they expected to give her.

The silence of Senator Shively should not be accepted as an indication that he does not appreciate the humiliation of recent events, says the New Castle Courier. Elected under a cloud, brutally turned down in the advocacy of his political opinions, and then compelled, as presiding officer, to participate in the enthusiastic nomination of the very man who had openly charged bribery in his own nomination a scant year before, constitute a cause sufficient to make the senatorialtega feel exceedingly warm.

Grasping Opportunity.

The Walker cattle sale is a big advertisement for Rushville. Aside from the reputation which the Jersey Isle stock farm brings to the city during all the year the sale attracts many prominent buyers from all over the United States. The buyers usually have a good opportunity to see the city and they get acquainted with the business standing of the community. Today the strangers were favorably impressed by a "stunt" put on by the press committee of the Retail Merchants' Association. The majority of the business men and citizens in general who attended the sale and who were around the hotels mixing with the buyers wore attractive cards which read: "Ask me—I'm for Rushville. Rushville Wants More Factories, More People, More Business. Has Fine Factory Sites, Elegant Building Lots."

Such enterprise on the part of the association through its committees is commendable. It's just the kind of enterprise and enthusiasm which has made villages into large cities.

Too Much School.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction R. J. Aley says the public schools should be open during the whole year. It is our opinion that the children of Rushville will be much better with the schools closed at least three months in the year. More than that there is plenty of room to question the strength of Mr. Aley's proposition even for the larger cities.

It has long been the contention of educators that the three months' vacation was detrimental to the progress of the child's education. They say he forgets so much in that time that the connection of the work is broken. Their statement contains considerable truth, but at that the child with present advantages makes sufficient progress to enable him to complete eight years of common school, four years of high school work, and four years in college by the time he is twenty-two. If the average student gets through any sooner than that he has learned some things before he is able to appreciate them.

The child's health is far more important than the rapid progress of his education. The number of pains of poor eyes is increasing daily and to the schools must be charged a part of this misfortune. Three months of freedom with nine months of school is not a bad ratio. True the older boys and girls are better with some light employment during the summer vacation. But employment with plenty of good air and exercise is a vacation for the school boy. When he goes back in the fall he may have forgotten some of the things he learned the preceding term, but his mind and his body are in much better condition to learn what is offered than if he had been in the school room that three months.

But Mr. Aley would not make the summer education compulsory. Just here it is necessary to recognize a fact which is a blot on the fair name of the American family. Some mothers dread to see the school term end, because "the children are so much bother." In other words she prefers that some school teacher rear her children along with fifty or sixty others. She likes to have them home a few hours in the day, but all day is too much. In these cases what would the summer school amount to? The schooling would not be optional with the children. It would depend largely on whether the mother liked to have her children around home all day.

And so it seems, with all due regard to Mr. Aley and his understanding of the public school question, that during the three months the school buildings are closed the school boards are committing no great sin in the way of hindering the child's education.

Kuhn Says He is Scholar, Student and Campaigner

Pathetic Appeal Which Was Sent Out by Preacher-Candidate for Congress

There is pathos in the appeal sent out to the delegates by Thomas H. Kuhn, who was a candidate for congress before the Democratic district convention at Richmond today. Not only did Mr. Kuhn beg for their support in beseeching language, but he admitted his ability as a campaigner, an orator, a scholar and a student. He declares he has made many friends in the last two years by his lectures and stump speeches. But here it is as published by the New Castle Times, the Democratic paper of New Castle:

Richmond, Ind., May 9, 1910.

My Dear Brother—This nomination means infinitely more to me than any or all the candidates combined. I am now passing a crisis in my political life. My nomination or defeat means my political life or death.

If nominated I am sure I can be elected, and with my election comes my political uprising in the world.

If I am defeated in the convention, making two defeats by my enemies; and now by my friends, for whom I have labored and sacrificed, it means nothing short of my political death. It will forever destroy my influence with my own party, and the people at large.

Are you as an honest Democrat with a human heart, willing that it shall come to this, with my influence destroyed and my political ambition blighted? Must I suffer martyrdom at the hands of my own friends, without a logical reason, purely on sentimental grounds?

It is not so with Mull, Gray or Chambers. They can come again in the future; I can not. It is by your verdict in the convention that I stand or fall. My political destiny is in your hands. I am confident you will not allow such a thing to take place; you cannot afford to do it.

My dear brother, come to my relief this once, and help me in the crisis of my political life. I know you will.

You will concede my ability as an orator, a campaigner, a scholar and student of political economy and social conditions far exceed those of any other candidate; that my qualifications pre-eminently fit me for debate and contest on great questions on the floor of congress. You must concede that all these things combined make me easily the strongest candidate, and the most likely man to be elected in the coming election.

I reduced the majority in Henry county from 1800 to 779.

I wrote nearly 3000 personal letters to my Republican friends in my own church and other churches, which gave me a return of 2500 to 3000 Republican votes.

In one township in Henry county there is an organization of 235 Republicans. Their chairman told me I could get their solid vote, but not a vote for any other Democrat who might be nominated for congress.

Father Wagner at St. Peter's, in Franklin county, is urging my nomination. Father Mier at Oldenburg, has been and is my warm supporter. Father Roell of Richmond is a personal friend and my supporter. You know what this means.

The old soldiers are with me; they understand me and give me almost a solid vote. I have made them many Decoration and reunion speeches.

From the pulpit, lecture platform and political stump the number of my friends throughout the district has greatly increased in the past two years.

My qualifications as a scholar, orator and campaigner are greatly in excess of any candidate before the convention. Stokes Johnson, State chairman, said I am one of the best campaigners in the State.

I am a member of eight different lodges and fraternal organizations, which is no hindrance in my campaigns.

In a Republican district caucus, held at their State convention, it was decided to do everything they could to defeat me in my nomination on the grounds that they were not afraid of any other candidate whom the Democrats might name, but that I was the dangerous man.

Yours truly,
THOMAS H. KUHN.

Special Limited Offering

A Non-Taxable 6% Income Without a Risk

Investigate this Extraordinary Opportunity for Indiana Investors—a Preferred Stock Issue by the Dodge Manufacturing Company of Mishawaka

HIGH-PRICED securities that yield only two to four per cent annual dividends—subject to taxation—are a luxury. Too dear a luxury in these times.

Your capital should, of necessity, earn more money.

Invest your surplus—large or small—in this preferred stock issue of the Dodge Manufacturing Company. Your money will thus earn six per cent per annum.

The Absolute Certainty

Most men today will understand that the name of the Dodge Company guarantees the absolute certainty of the investment.

We know of no better opportunity for Indiana investors. We know of no better security.

The company manufactures everything for the mechanical transmission of power. The capital stock is $1,000,000. The surplus and reserves total $1,167,852.

The preferred stock issue authorized is $1,500,000. The shares are $100 each.

Ten thousand shares, or $1,000,000 worth of stock, are now to be sold.

Undoubtedly the issue will be far over-subscribed. This will mean that preferred shares will command a premium.

No Taxes—No Liability

Purchase of shares in this issue will secure you an assured income.

Upon your income there can be no taxes—under the laws of the State of Indiana.

Nor can you incur any liability in the Company's affairs. This is guaranteed under the iron-bound terms of the stock contract filed with the Secretary of State of Indiana.

Holders of the common stock assume all liability—pay all the taxes. Holders of the preferred stock have no liability, pay no taxes—yet draw 6% dividends.

No dividends, under the contract, can be paid on common stock until the preferred stock dividends have been paid in full. Nor can any payment ever be made on common stock principal until the preferred stock has been fully liquidated.

Payments of 6% dividends on the preferred stock begin from the date of the certificates. They are semi-annual, payable January 1st and July 1st.

The stock is not listed—there is no element of speculation. There can be no risk.

The Dodge Growth

The growth of this great industry makes one of the most interesting chapters of the Nation's business history.

From a cradle in an old frame mill 31 years ago, the Dodge Company has expanded to cover about nineteen acres of floor space today. It employs more than 1200 operatives.

The real estate and plant are worth nearly a million and a half dollars.

The company never has had an unprofitable year. Year by year the business has grown more profitable.

Last year was the greatest year of all partly due to the general adoption of the Dodge Line by mill and factory—partly to a national advertising campaign.

The demand for the Dodge Line is constant. What the road-bed is to the railway, Dodge Transmission appliances are to the manufacturer.

The Company's present earning power is such that it can pay a 10% dividend on its capital stock—after providing for interest on the preferred stock and making proper allowance for depreciation and for addition to the surplus account.

The company transacts more than $2,000,000 annual business. Undoubtedly factory enlargements will enable it to reach the three million dollar mark.

The present preferred stock issue is another step in the growth, the increased prosperity of the business.

Greater working capital and further extensions and improvements to the plant will result. These are needed in meeting the overwhelming demand for the Dodge Line.

Thus you can see what strength stands behind this investment.

Net Assets $2 For $1

This is a unique feature. According to the conditions of the stock contract, the net assets—with Bills and Accounts Payable deducted—shall always be in excess of double the amount of outstanding preferred stock.

Net assets of two dollars for one must be on hand at all times. We know of no more secure protection ever being given.

And every dollar of assets is a LIVE dollar. No dead material. No useless machinery. All earning profits.

Even the Good Will of the Dodge Company is not included in the statement of assets. Yet the Good Will, according to the usual way of computation, according to accepted financial practice, is worth millions of dollars.

We have so much faith in this investment that we have given it our public and unqualified approval.

We want every Indianian with a few idle hundred dollars—or tens of thousands at command—to investigate.

Get the Complete Facts

A complete statement has been prepared, telling all the facts about this issue. It gives the interesting history of the Dodge Company. You are shown how the average annual income of the Dodge Company is more than $240,000—more than four times the amount required to pay 6% dividends on the preferred stock.

We urge you to get this statement. To see how, of the $2,500,000 of profit earned by this company, two million dollars have been put back in the plant and business.

Her companion departed this life April 2, 1908. She was united with the Christian church at Rushville in 1885, made her confession at a union meeting held at Concord school house and was immersed by Z. W. Conner, her membership remained with the church at Rushville the remainder of her life, she was faithful to the cause of Christ and attended church services regular as long as she was able to attend. She was stricken with paralysis nine years ago and has been a constant, yet patient sufferer ever since.

There is no place where Christianity glows with such a divine lustre, and where consolations are so precious and sublime, as at the grave where we commit a cherished one to rest. Its hopes loom out upon the gloom that oppresses the heart there as the sun when it bursts full—Orbed through the dark storm clouds which obscure the canopy of heavens, however much we may have pondered the mysteries of the gospel and appreciated its lessons, we can never understand its priceless value so fully as when its light bursts through our clouds of dark calamity and spans them with the bow of promise, as its rays are reflected by our tears. We may have often heard and read the blessed announcement "that Christ brought life and immortality to light" but there we feel it we may have admired that charming promise, "when thou goest through the waters I will be with thee and though the rivers they shall overflow thee, when thou walkest through the fire thou shalt not be burnt, neither shall the flame kindle upon thee for I am the Lord, thy God, the Holy one of Israel, thy Savior," but, ineffably more precious did we find this promise in our deep afflictions, when our souls felt the conscious presence and support of the everlasting arms underneath us. As the rose gives out its most delicious fragrance when it is crushed so to the promises of God breaks their healing balm most effectually when pressed upon the heart broken with sorrow.

She sleeps, she sleeps and never more.

Will her footsteps fall by the old home door.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

TO SUPPLANT ARK.

(New Castle Courier.)

With the presence of Supt. J. W. O'Brien of the L. E. & W. in the city Monday, interest in the building of a new depot by the Lake Erie has revived. Work has already commenced and by the end of the week it will be on in full blast. The old beer house was purchased by Art Lockridge, and has been moved to his place at the end of North 16th street.

The nine telegraph poles on the Lake Erie right-of-way between Broad and Indiana, which are now on the west side of the track, will be moved to the east side. The track, which extends on the west side of the tank will be taken up, and the Rushville branch will be connected with the Connerville line track. The water tank will be near the coal dock, and the new station erected on the site.

A stone shovel will arrive in a day or two and will commence work on the turn-table pit. A new and up-to-date turn-table has been here for several months and it will be put in soon.

The new depot will be modern and up-to-date in every particular. It is to be constructed of brick and stone and, according to all indications now, it will be a credit to the city.

CHAPTER XI.

Unable to control herself any longer, Annie broke down completely and burst into tears. When the door opened and she saw her husband led away, pale and trembling, between those two burly policemen, it was as if all she cared for on earth had gone out of her life forever. Capt. Clinton laid his hand gently on her shoulder. With more sympathy in his face than was his custom to display, he said:

"Now, little woman—'taint no kind of use carrying on like that! If you want to help your husband and get him out of his trouble you want to get busy. Sitting there crying your eyes out won't do him any good."

Annie threw up her head. Her eyes were red, but they were dry now. Her face was set and determined. The captain was right. Only foolish women weep and wail when misfortune knocks at their door. The right sort of women go bravely out and make a fight for liberty and honor. Howard was innocent. She was convinced of that, no matter how black things looked against him. She would not leave a stone unturned till she had regained for him his liberty. With renewed hope in her heart and resolution in her face, she turned to confront the captain.

"What has he done?" she demanded. "Killed his friend, Robert Underwood."

He watched her face closely to see what effect his words would have on her.

"Robert Underwood dead!" exclaimed Annie with more surprise than emotion.

"Yes," said the captain sternly, "and your husband, Howard Jeffries, killed him."

"That's not true! I'd never believe that," said Annie promptly.

"He's made a full confession," went on the captain.

"A confession!" she echoed uneasily. "What do you mean?"

"Just what I say. Your husband

NO MORE GRAY HAIR

It is easier to preserve the color of the hair than to restore it, although it is possible to do both. Our grandmothers understood the secret. They made and used a "sage tea," and their dark, glossy hair long after middle life was due to this fact. Our mothers have gray hairs before they are fifty, but they are beginning to appreciate the wisdom of our grandmothers in using "sage tea" for their hair, and are fast following suit. The present generation has the advantage of the past in that it can get a ready to use preparation called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur. As a scalp tonic and color restorer, this preparation is vastly superior to the ordinary "sage tea" made by our grandmothers, and it can be bought for 50 cents and $1 a bottle at almost any first-class drug store, or will be sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

Tell Some Sick One

It Is Free If It Fails.

Will you do an act of Humanity?

Will you tell some sick friend of this, my remarkable offer?

Tell him or her, that you have learned of a medicine so certain that its maker dare not say to the sick, "It is absolutely and unconditionally free if it fails."

For 20 years it has been the standard remedy for Stomach, Kidney and Heart ailments everywhere in America.

When the "insider" or controlling nerves of these vital organs begin to fail, it is Dr. Shoop's Restorative that has quickly vitalized, and strengthened, and brought these nerves and organs back to health again.

I do not dose the Stomach, nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys—for that is all wrong.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes direct to the cause of these ailments—the failing, faltering, inside or controlling nerves. And herein lies the keynote to my success.

When these nerves are again made well and strong, then that is the certain end of all such sickness.

To me it is a great satisfaction that I am the only physician able to say to the suffering sick, "Take my prescription for full 30 days and if it fails to help you, the entire expense is mine—not yours."

Then why should the sick take any chance on any other medicine, whose maker dare not back it just as I do by this remarkable offer?

I also have a Rhumatic Remedy—and that remedy is copied by the same identical "No help, no pay" protective plan.

Besides, you are free to consult me first as you would your home physician. My advice and the book below are yours—and without cost.

Perhaps a word or two from me will clear up some serious ailment. I have helped thousands upon thousands with my valuable prescription or personal advice plan. My best effort is surely worth your simple request.

So let me send you an order at once. Take the message to some sick friend.

A postal will bring the opportunity.

I will have an honest and trustworthy druggist to whom you can conveniently go for the 30 day test.

But first, ask me for the order, for all druggists are not authorized to give the 30 day test.

So write me now and save all delays. Remember that tomorrow never comes.

has made a full confession in the presence of witnesses, that he came here to Underwood's rooms to ask for money. They quarreled. Your husband drew a pistol and shot him. He has signed a confession which will be presented to the magistrate this morning."

Annie looked staggered for a moment, but her faith in her husband was unshakable. Almost hysterically she cried:

"I don't believe it. I don't believe it. You may have tortured him into signing something. Everybody knows your methods, Capt. Clinton. But thank God there is a law in the United States which protects the innocent as well as punishes the guilty. I shall get the most able lawyers to defend him even if I have to sell myself into slavery for the rest of my life."

"Bravo, little woman!" said the captain mockingly. "That's the way to talk. I like your spunk, but before you go I'd like to ask you a few questions. Sit down."

He waved her to a chair and he sat opposite her.

"Now, Mrs. Jeffries," he began encouragingly, "tell me—did you ever hear your husband threaten Howard Underwood?"

By this time Annie had recovered her self-possession. She knew that the best way to help Howard was to keep cool and to say nothing which was likely to injure his cause. Boldly, therefore, she answered:

"You've no right to ask me that question."

The captain shifted uneasily in his seat. He knew she was within her legal right. He couldn't bully her into saying anything that would incriminate her husband.

"I merely thought you would like to assist the authorities, to—" he stammered awkwardly.

"To convict my husband," she said calmly. "Thank you, I understand my position."

"You can't do him very much harm, you know," said the captain with affected jocularity. "He has confessed to the shooting."

"I don't believe it," she said emphatically.

Trying a different tack, he asked carelessly:

"Did you know Mr. Underwood?"

She hesitated before replying, then indifferently she said:

"Yes, I knew him at one time. He introduced me to my husband."

"Where was that?"

"In New Haven, Conn."

"Up at the college, eh? How long have you known Mr. Underwood?"

Annie looked at her inquisitor and said nothing. She wondered what he was driving at, what importance the question had to the case. Finally she said:

"I met him once or twice up at New Haven, but I've never seen him since my marriage to Mr. Jeffries. My husband and he were not very good friends. That is—"

She stopped, realizing that she had made a mistake. How foolish she had been! The police, of course, were anxious to show that there was ill feeling between the two men. Her heart misgave her as she saw the look of satisfaction in the captain's face.

"Ah!" he exclaimed. "Not very good friends, eh? In fact, your husband didn't like him, did he?"

"He didn't like him well enough to run after him," she replied hesitatingly.

The captain now started off in another direction.

"Was your husband ever jealous of Underwood?"

By this time Annie had grown suspicious of every question. She was on her guard.

"Jealous? What do you mean?"

No, he was not jealous. There was never any reason. I refuse to answer any more questions."

The captain rose and began to pace the floor.

"There's one little thing more, Mrs. Jeffries, and then you can go. You can help your husband by helping us. I want to put one more question to you and be careful to answer truthfully. Did you call at these rooms last night to see Mr. Underwood?"

"It!" exclaimed Annie with mingled astonishment and indignation. "Of course not."

"Sure?" demanded the captain, eyeing her narrowly.

"Positive," said Annie firmly.

The captain looked puzzled.

"A woman called here last night to see him," he said thoughtfully, "and I thought that perhaps—"

Interrupting himself, he went quickly to the door of the apartment and called to some one who was waiting in the corridor outside. A boy about 18 years of age, in the livery of an elevator attendant, entered the room. The captain pointed to Annie.

"Is that the lady?"

The boy looked carefully, and then shook his head.

"Don't think so—no, sir. The other lady was a great swell."

"You're sure, eh?" said the captain.

"I think so," answered the boy.

"Do you remember the name she gave?"

"No, sir," replied the boy. "Ever since you asked me—"

Annie arose and moved toward the door. She had no time to waste there. Every moment now was precious. She must get legal assistance at once. Turning to Capt. Clinton, she said:

"If you've no further use for me, captain, I think I'll go."

"Just one moment, Mrs. Jeffries," he said.

The face of the elevator boy suddenly brightened up.

"That's it," he said eagerly. "That's it—Jeffries. I think that was the

If you don't, some Rushville people do. Read it:

George Priest, 223 West Third Street, Rushville, Ind., says: "I was bothered by attacks of kidney trouble for several years and as time passed my condition became worse. There was a dull pain directly over my kidneys and I had spells of dizziness and weakness. My sight often became blurred and I knew that something must be done. Three years ago Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention and were so highly recommended that I got a box at F. B. Johnson & Co.'s Drug Store. They proved to be the best kidney medicine I had ever taken and in a short time had entirely relieved me. On several occasions during the past three years I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and they have always given entire satisfaction."

name she gave, sir."

"Who?" demanded the captain.

"Not this lady," said the boy. "The other lady. I think she said Jeffries, or Jenkins, or something like that."

The captain waved his hand toward the door.

"It's all right—go. We'll find her all right."

The boy went out and the captain turned round to Annie.

"It'll be rather a pity if it isn't you," he said, with a suggestive smile.

"How so?" she demanded.

The captain laughed.

"Well, you see, a woman always gets the jury mixed up. Nothing fools a man like a pretty face, and 12 times 1 is 12. You see if they quarreled about you—your husband would stand some chance." Patronizingly he added, "Come, Mrs. Jeffries, you'd better tell the truth and I can advise you who to go to."

Annie drew herself up, and with dignity said:

"Thanks, I'm going to the best lawyer I can get. Not one of those courtroom politicians recommended by a police captain. I am going to Richard Brewster. He's the man. He'll soon get my husband out of the Tombs." Reflectively she added: "If my father had had Judge Brewster to defend him instead of a legal shark, he'd never have been railroaded to jail. He'd be alive to-day."

Capt. Clinton guffawed loudly. The idea of ex-Judge Brewster taking the case seemed to amuse him hugely.

"Brewster?" he laughed boisterously.

"You'd never be able to get Brewster. Firstly, he's too expensive. Secondly, he's old man Jeffries' lawyer. He wouldn't touch your case with a ten-foot pole. Besides," he added in a tone of contempt. "Brewster's no good in a case of this kind. He's a constitution lawyer—cousin of them international fellers. He don't know nothing—"

"He's the only lawyer I want," she retorted determinedly. Then she went on: "Howard's folks must come to his rescue. They must stand by him—they must—"

The captain grinned.

"From what I hear," he said, "old man Jeffries won't raise a finger to save his scapgegrace son from going to the chair. He's done with him for good and all."

Chuckling aloud and talking to himself rather than to his vis-a-vis, he muttered:

"That alone will convince the jury. They'll argue that the boy can't be much good if his own go back on him."

Annie's eye flashed.

"Precisely!" she exclaimed. "But his own won't go back on him. I'll see to it that they don't."

Rising and turning toward the door, she asked:

"Have you anything more to say to me, captain?"

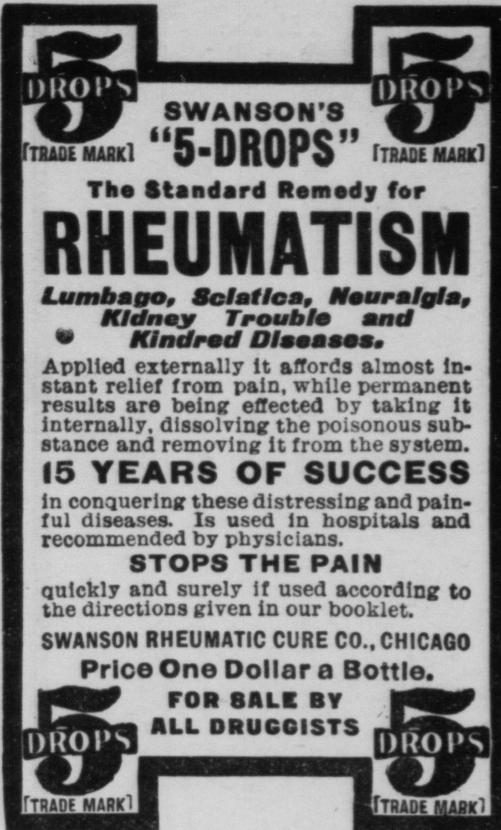

"No," replied the captain hesitatingly. "You can go. Of course you'll be called later for the trial. You can see your husband in the Tombs when you wish."

No man is so hard that he has not a soft spot somewhere. At heart Capt. Clinton was not an unkind man. Long service in the police force and a mistaken notion of the proper method of procedure in treating his prisoners had hardened him and made him brutal. Secretly he felt sorry for this plucky, energetic little woman who had such unbounded faith in her good-for-nothing husband, and was ready to fight all alone in his defense. Eyeing her with renewed interest, he demanded:

"What are you going to do now?"

Annie reached the door, and drawing herself up to her full height, turned and said:

"I'm going to undo all you have done, Capt. Clinton. I'm going to free my husband and prove his innocence

POSTMASTERS MEET AT GARY

Indiana Association Talking Things Over.

THE TRIALS OF TOM KNOTTS

The Present Mayor of the Steel City Was the Town's First Postmaster, and He Tells the Assembled Brethren How He Tried to Resign a Losing Job but Was Tied to His Task by Government Regulations.

Gary, Ind., May 25.—Gary today is entertaining over one hundred postmasters from all parts of the state. The Indiana Association of Presidential Postmasters is holding its annual convention here. Robert H. Bryson, postmaster of Indianapolis, is president of the association, and John E. Shideler, assistant postmaster of that city, is secretary and treasurer.

The convention opened this morning at 10 o'clock at the Binzerhoff hotel. The address of welcome was delivered by Mayor T. E. Knotts, who was Gary's first postmaster. Mayor Knotts explained how he distributed the first mail in Gary from a shoe-box from a little shack in the sand hills in which he lived. He also related that during the first year of his office, after losing $150 each month, he attempted to resign, but could not on account of his appointment.

The postmasters will be taken through the plant of the Indiana Steel company this afternoon and later will visit the Calumet district in automobiles. Today's session will end with a banquet at the Victoria hotel. The meeting tomorrow will be devoted to the discussion of practical postoffice problems.

DISAPPOINTED THEM

Advocates of Direct Primaries Get Little Consolation at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, May 25.—Advocates of the direct primary are much disappointed over the meager vote cast by the two parties yesterday, though Republicans are congratulating themselves on the fact that the Beveridge slate was nominated, while the Taggart men are elated over the nomination of all their candidates for the legislature and several of their candidates for county offices. Hardly more than 60 per cent of the vote of either party registered during the day, but the presence of many conservative Democrats and Republicans, who went to the polls to prevent threatened frauds, led to one of the most orderly primaries ever held in this city.

Open charges that there was a conspiracy to put men opposed to Beveridge on the legislative ticket caused the senator's friends to assemble early and work hard, and they are much pleased over having selected out of the many candidates eight men who can be trusted to vote for Beveridge if they are elected in November.

TWENTY-TWO BALLOTS

Were Required to Name Republican Candidate in Ninth Indiana District.

Lebanon, Ind., May 25.—The Ninth district Republicans nominated Edward E. Neal of Noblesville for congress on the twenty-second ballot; adopted a platform favoring a dollar-a-day pension for soldiers of the civil war; endorsed President Taft and Senator Beveridge; endorsed a protective tariff, but did not mention the Payne-Aldrich tariff law by name; refused to endorse the county option law, but resolved in favor of a law against shipping liquor into "dry" territory.

ILLINOIS VETERANS AGAINST LEE STATUE

They Say Virginia's Act Was Unwarranted.

Oakland City, Ind., May 25.—The Ayrshire Coal company, one of the largest coal producers in southwestern Indiana, has leased a large tract of land south of this city and will open a new mine in the near future. Tests of the coal are now being made. The mine will be located on the E. & I. railroad. A company of Pittsburg capitalists are also engaged in making coal tests south of this city with a view of developing their leases.

Coal operators in southwestern Indiana are reaping a harvest and are running full time with all the men they can work. The coal is being shipped to Illinois points, the demand being created on account of the strike of the Illinois miners. Railroad tracks in this city are blocked with coal trains almost every day, the output of the mines along the E. & I. railroad being transferred here to the Southern for western shipment. The coal is selling for nearly $1 above the usual price a ton.

Freeport, Ill., May 25.—General Robert E. Lee was termed a "traitor" and compared with Benedict Arnold, by Colonel Jasper T. Darling of Chicago in a speech at the opening campfire of the Illinois Grand Army of the Republic in its forty-fourth annual encampment in Freeport.

Inveighing against the placing of a statue of General Lee in Statuary hall at Washington, Colonel Darling prophesied that the acceptance of the statue of the Confederate leader would be a step toward pensioning Confederate soldiers and opening the way to the federal government assuming the burden of Confederate war bonds.

"So long as treason is considered a crime against constitutional law," said Colonel Darling, "the statue of Robert E. Lee can have no abiding place in that pantheon dedicated to the heroes of the Revolution and to those whose achievements have contributed to the triumph of this republic."

The address was in support of the contention that General Lee was not convinced of the justice of the cause for which he drew his sword, and that he therefore could have no claim to the name of patriot.

W. T. Rawleigh, mayor of Freeport and department commander of the Sons of Veterans, was cheered when he, too, called the act of honoring Lee in the nation's capital unwarranted, but he cautioned against the use of intemperate language. Former Governor Samuel R. Van Sant of Minnesota, commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., who spoke at the same campfire with Colonel Darling, sought to bring back the dove of peace by a eulogy of the generous treatment he had recently received while on a tour of the south.

"Not only was I gladly received everywhere by the boys in blue," he said, "but with equal cordiality and good will by the boys in gray. The wounds of the war are being healed."

If your Stomach, Heart, or Kidney are weak, try at least, a few doses only of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. In five or ten days only, the result will surprise you. A few cents will cover the cost. And here is why help comes so quickly. Dr. Shoop doesn't drug the Stomach, nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to the weak and failing nerves. Each organ has its own controlling nerves. When these nerves fail, the depending organs must of necessity falter. This plain, yet vital truth, clearly tells why Dr. Shoop's Restorative is so universally successful. Its success is leading druggists everywhere to give it universal preference. A test will surely tell. Sold by F. E. Wolcott.

SHOWERS PRAISE ON MISS KITCHEN

Oliver Willard Pierce Says That the Local Talented Pianist is Rarely Exceeded.

APPRECIATE LECTURE-RECITAL

Was Unique and Novel in That Entertainer Prefaced His Selections by Explanations.

Over one hundred people crowded into the court house assembly room last night to hear the piano recital by Oliver Willard Pierce of the Indianapolis College of Musical Arts, assisted by Miss Jessie Kitchen of this city. The entertainment was highly appreciated by the large audience which applauded roundly after each selection. Both of the musicians were forced to answer to encores after practically every number on account of the vociferous applause, which was hearty and genuine.

Mrs. A. L. Aldridge as president of the Ladies Musicae, under whose auspices the recital was given, introduced Mr. Pierce with a few well-chosen words. Mr. Pierce made a short introductory talk before the beginning of the program, showering praise on Miss Kitchen, who has been his student and with whose work he said he is well acquainted. Mr. Pierce said that Miss Kitchen is an artist of rare ability, who is outclassed by few lady musicians. He could not find enough adjectives to express his opinion of the local pianist, for whom he predicted great things in the future. Mr. Pierce said that in his opinion, there was not a lady pianist in Indianapolis who could favorably compare with her.

Mr. Pierce further stated that artists are often not appreciated in their home, where they have lived and that it should not be the case with Miss Kitchen.

The first number on the program, "Le Rouet de Omphale" by Mr. Pierce and "Saint-Saens" by Miss Kitchen, played in unison was so much appreciated by the audience that the two musicians were compelled to respond with an even more difficult and more heartily encored number. Much comment was made on the work of Miss Kitchen who played the second number, which was said to be a very difficult one, without music.

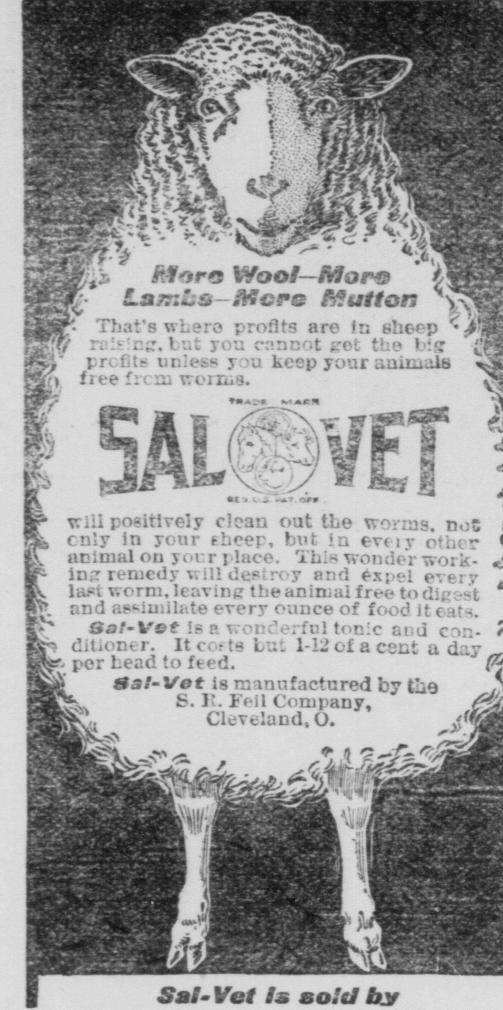

The recital following, given by Mr. Pierce was unique and novel in that it was different from any other entertainment of that nature given here before. Before each series of pieces Mr. Pierce explained their composition. If the composer was of Italian descent, he showed how the work was in keeping with all of the music of that race in that particular age. His short lectures of explanation before his rendition were a great benefit to any cosmopolitan audience such as attended last night and served to make the "unknowing ones" appreciate the concert much more, had the short talks not have been given.

The second series of series of selections, "Two Preludes, Etude, Waltz, Nocturne and Scherzo," all by Chopin were probably the most highly appreciated by the audience, which was very demonstrative and which did not fail to show its appreciation by loud applause. The last selection on the program, "St. Francis Walking on the Waters (legende)" was heartily applauded, so much that Mr. Pierce was forced to play another piece as the closing selection.
